ORDER
25.01.2024

Even though respondents have produced a PPO issued on 01.05.2023 indicating grant of pensionary benefit to the applicant, a complaint was made on the last date of hearing itself by learned counsel for the applicant that the arrears and the amount in pursuance to the PPO has not been credited to the applicant's account. Even today the same statement is made. Even though the State Bank of India is the bank where the account of the applicant is in operation and normally the amount as indicated in the PPO has to be credited to his bank account by the CPCC of the bank concerned. Of late, in similar cases, on issuance of notice to the bank, it has come to the notice of the Tribunal that all accounts have been transferred to the SPARSH System of payment and it is now the PCDA, (SPARSH) of the concerned office is required to remit the amount in the account of the applicant. Learned counsel for the respondents are granted four weeks' to seek instructions from the PCDA, SPARSH concerned and to indicate as to why the amount has not been credited to the applicant's account.

List the matter on 08.02.2024.
