ORDER
25.05.2023

RA 20/2023

Having heard learned counsel for the parties, we find that there has been no discovery of new facts so as to warrant interference by this Court.

2. On reappraisal of the entire judgment, we also find that there is no error apparent on the face of record nor is there any sufficient cause so as to persuade this Court to enter into the issues which have already been decided and considered on the earlier occasion. We find that the review application has been filed merely to delay the implementation of our order and we do not appreciate the same.

3. In our considered view there appears to be no further ground to interfere in the matter, accordingly, review application is dismissed.
